THE PRICE LECTURES 2010

*These events are free and open to the public.
Each lecture begins at 1:30 pm and is followed by a book signing.*

Sunday, February 21

Harvey Cox is the Hollis Professor of Divinity emeritus at Harvard. His book, The Secular City is regarded as one of the most influential books of Protestant theology in the 20th century. His most recent book is The Future of Faith.

Sunday, February 28

Atul Gawande is staff writer for The New Yorker, and an assistant professor at Harvard Medical School and Harvard School of Public Health. His current book is The Checklist Manifesto: How to Get Things Right. Dr. Gawande is one of the most influential voices on healthcare reform in American today.

Sunday, March 7

Barbara Brown Taylor is an Episcopal priest, professor, and theologian and is one of the best known preachers in the United States. She is a contributing editor to Sojourners, and an at-large editor for The Christian Century. Her most recent book is a memoir, An Altar in the World: A Geography of Faith, about which Phyllis Tickle says, "This is the most completely beautiful book in religion that I have read in a very long time." Ms. Taylor will also be preaching at the 9:00 am and 11:15 am liturgies this day.

Sunday, March 21

Diana Butler Bass is an author, speaker, and independent scholar specializing in American religion and culture. She regularly comments on religion, politics, and culture in the media including USA TODAY, Time, Newsweek, The Washington Post, CNN, FOX, PBS, and NPR. Her most recent book, A People's History of Christianity: The Other Side of the Story, is a history of the grassroots movements in Christianity that preserved Jesus's message of social justice for 2,000 years and their impact on the Church today. Ms. Bass will also be preaching at the 9:00 am and 11:15 am liturgies this day.
